

shining (SOMA) art the sprinkler whose occupation
 is sprinkling; thou, the sprinkler, sustainest the rites (of men and gods).

2. 0 sprinkler, the strength of thee the sprinkler consists in sprinkling, thy worship consists in sprinkling, thy juice consists in sprinkling; thou
 truly art always the sprinkler.

3. IXDU, the sprinkler, thou neighest like a horse;
 thou givest us cattle, thou givest us horses:
 open
 the doors for our wealth.

4. ^{ir}he powerful, brilliant, rapid /Stow#- juices are effused in the hope of obtaining cattle, horses, and male offspring

5. The (/SW^-juices) beautified by those desirous of sacrifice, cleansed by their hands, flow through the woollen fleece.

xxxvii ^- ^^{ay} tk^{ose} Souut-juicGB pour forth for the offerer (of libations) all the treasures of heaven and earth and of the firmament.

6. ²All-beholding SOMA, thy streams as thou art being purified are sent forth like the rays of the sun at present-

7. SOMAJ thou who art the ocean, bestowing knowledge, hastenest from heaven to all our various

¹ Sama Veda, II. 4. 1.2. 1-3; Terse 4 also occurs

Hid. L 5.
2. 5. 6.

¹ Verses 7-9 occur Sama Veda, II. 3. 2. 2. 1-3, with jajnanc
for hinvdw and irandaii for akrati in verse 9.-